Native American Heritage Month

- (Uncovering a major landmark once used by Virginia's Indigenous tribes) Discovering the site of Werowocomoco in 2001 was an important reminder of how much native land exists in the Chesapeake. Now, the site is managed by the National Park Service with help from Indigenous tribes in Virginia. #NativeAmericanHeritageMonth
- (An Indigenous tribe conserves its ancestral landscapes) With leadership from Chief Francis Gray, the Piscataway Conoy Tribe are protecting the river that they've called home for centuries. #NativeAmericanHeritageMonth
- (Petroglyphs) Rock carvings found along the Susquehanna River, known as petroglyphs, offer a window into the world of Chesapeake's Indigenous People. #NativeAmericanHeritageMonth

Opt Outside Day

- (Opt outside and discover the Chesapeake) There's no shortage of ways to enjoy spending time outdoors in the Chesapeake Bay watershed! #OptOutside this weekend and visit one of your favorite parks or find somewhere new.
- (The beginner's guide to taking a hike) Planning a trip for #OptOutside day? Use these tips to ensure you stay safe and have fun!
