

Katie Davis

Environmental Protection Agency, Office of Water

Katie Davis has been with EPA since 2003. The majority of her career was spent as an ecological risk assessor on more than 80 Superfund sites in the mid-Atlantic. She has been with EPA's Fish and Beach Team in the Office of Water since 2022. She works on recreational water quality and fish contaminant issues. She has assisted with the 2025 NARS National Coastal Conditions Assessment, the most recent National Fish Forum and updated and transformed the national fish consumption advisory guidance into a web format. She grew up in Annapolis and lives in Cape St Claire with her 10 year old non-identical twin sons.